

EMTY PROSHARES DECLINE OF THE RETAIL STORE ETF

Retail Disruption Is Creating A Long-Term Investment Opportunity

Many bricks-and-mortar retailers are struggling

Even prior to COVID-19, bricks and mortar retailers were facing challenges in today's retail environment. Changing business models, online shopping, and demographic shifts continue to put pressure on these retailers, including many long-standing brands. Since 2017, over 23,000 U.S. retail stores have closed, and a number of major bankruptcies have made headline news.

Retail disruption could be a long-term trend

Key indicators suggest that the transformation of retail could continue for years.

- Over the last decade, U.S. online retail sales growth has outpaced non-online retail sales growth by nearly 10 to 1 and nearly tripled as a percent of total retail sales.
- Experts predict continued store closures. Despite new stores opening, experts predict that as much as 7% of the nation's retail—up to 75,000 store locations—could be out of business by 2026.

What's driving the decline?

Shopping is going digital. Global forecasts for 2023 growth estimate a 65% growth in sales, compared with 7% for physical retailers.

65% of millennials prefer to make purchases online.

Per person, the United States has five times the retail square footage of the U.K. and 12 times that of Germany.

THE FIRST ETF DESIGNED TO BENEFIT FROM DECLINING RETAIL STORES

For ETF investors, retail disruption presents an opportunity. ProShares Decline of the Retail Store ETF (EMTY) is the first ETF designed to help investors benefit from the decline of bricks-and-mortar retailers.

The fund provides daily short exposure (-1x) to the Solactive-ProShares Bricks and Mortar Retail Store Index, which consists of retailers that rely principally on revenue from physical stores. EMTY is designed to benefit each day the index declines in value.

THE SOLACTIVE-PROSHARES BRICKS AND MORTAR RETAIL STORE INDEX

Index Methodology

To be included in the Solactive-ProShares Bricks and Mortar Retail Store Index, a retailer must:

- Be characterized as receiving at least 50% of its revenue from retail operations.
- Receive 75% or more of its retail revenues from in-store sales.
- Be a U.S. company.

In addition, a retailer must have a market capitalization of at least $500 million, a six-month daily average value traded of at least $1 million, and meet other requirements.

The index is equally weighted, rebalanced monthly, and reconstituted annually.

A Potential Standard for Measuring the Health of Bricks-and-Mortar Retailers

The Solactive-ProShares Bricks and Mortar Retail Store Index has an innovative design that separates bricks-and-mortar retailers—those that rely principally on revenue from their physical stores—from the rest of the retail sales industry. This is the first public securities index specifically designed to bring these legacy retailers together so that they can be treated as a unique investment opportunity.

As the only index of its type, the Solactive-ProShares Bricks and Mortar Retail Store Index is potentially positioned to become a standard by which the financial industry measures the health of the legacy physical retail industry.

About the ETF

Investment Objective: EMTY seeks capital appreciation from the decline of bricks-and-mortar retailers through short exposure (-1x) to the Solactive-ProShares Bricks and Mortar Retail Store Index.

Inception: 11/14/2017

Accesses the trend in declining physical retail

EMTY is the first ETF specifically designed to benefit from the decline of bricks-and-mortar retailers.

Long-term retail disruption has created an opportunity

Physical retailers are under immense pressure. E-commerce is gaining ground as consumer habits change, shopping moves online, and physical stores struggle to remain viable. With this disruption comes opportunity.

Exposure to the only index that specifically identifies retail stores

The Solactive-ProShares Bricks and Mortar Retail Store Index is the first comprehensive, public securities index composed of legacy physical retailers, and is positioned to potentially become an industry standard for measuring the health of bricks-and-mortar retailers.

Key Considerations

Daily Investment Objective

EMTY seeks a return that is -1x the return of the index (target) for a single day, as measured from one NAV calculation to the next. Due to the compounding of daily returns, the fund's returns over periods other than one day will likely differ in amount and possibly direction from the target return for the same period. Investors should monitor holdings consistent with their strategies, as frequently as daily.
